Bethel finally gets the (good) word on $1.35 million federal grant

'Maybe everyone can just relax a little bit now.'

MADELEINE HENLEY
Bethel Town Manager

By MICHAEL DANIELS

After more than two years of delays and uncertainty, Bethel learned last week that it will indeed receive $1.35 million in federal funds to pay for nearly half the cost of the town's proposed new water treatment plant. The money will be used to build the plant and the associated water distribution system. The project has been a major focus for the town since 1993, when the town first applied for the grant. backs," said developer Hemie Mer-

Part of that "weight" for the developers is $358,000 that had been set aside for infrastructure work. That money, part of a total $1.35 million in federal funds, will now be used for other purposes. Town Manager Madeleine Henley said the news might help to ease strained relations between the developers and town. "Maybe everyone just relax a little bit now," she said.

Post Office decision is postponed again

By MICHAEL DANIELS

A decision on whether to build a new post office in Bethel this year has been postponed again. The United States Postal Service has decided to wait until next year to make a final decision on whether to build a new post office in Bethel. The decision was postponed because the town's proposed site for the new post office is still under review. The town's proposed site for the new post office is still under review.

Bethel selectmen's handling of volunteer appointments criticized

• Appeals Board members protest after their sitting chairman is denied reappointment

By MICHAEL DANIELS

"I'm absolutely sure this is a case where there's a room for improvement," conceded Bob Chubb, chairman of the Bethel Board of Selectmen.

A majority of members of the Bethel Board of Appeals agreed. Three members, including outgoing chairman Harry Faulkner, showed up at Monday night's selectmen's meeting to protest the selectmen's failure to reappoint Faulkner -- and beyond that the manner in which they handled the matter.

The selectmen had taken up board appointments at their meeting a week earlier. Most of the appointments had been routinely approved (see below), but a motion by Rick Whitney to reappoint Faulkner to another three-year term failed 1-4.

Discussion of the appointments took place in an hour-long secret session; the vote was in public session, at approximately 11 p.m.

Faulkner said Monday he had been totally surprised by the decision, especially since no one on the Board of Selectmen had contacted him to discuss their reasons for not reappointing him.

'A great injustice was done.'

MIKE BROWN
Appeals Board member

"I got an ice-cold letter that said 'We decided not to reappoint you. Thanks for showing up,'" Faulkner said.

Fellow planners Mike Brown and Jeri Greenwell also objected to the non-communicative manner in which the selectmen handled the matter.

Brown termed Faulkner "an excellent member," and said he should have been contacted prior to the decision.

And if the selectmen had any questions about an incumbent seeking reappointment, Brown suggested "it might be a good idea to check with other members of the board."

"A great injustice was done," he said. Greenwell characterized Faulkner's style as chairman of the Appeals Board as open-minded, fair and courteous.

She, too, expressed misgivings about the secretive nature of the appointment process.

The following day, Tuesday, Greenwell said she was so disturbed by the matter that she had decided to resign from the board.

"I can't be part of that process," she said.

She also questioned whether the selectmen were being candid about their reasons for going into secret session to discuss volunteer appointments. "Are they going into executive session to discuss personnel matters ... or personalities?" she asked.

The selectmen thanked the planners for their comments Monday, but took no action. The Appeals Board position is being read-

SAD44: Board in turmoil over Supt. evaluation

By ALISON ALOISIO

Controversy over the evaluation of SAD44 Supt. Ron Jenkins led last week to charges School Board chairman Marcel Polak was trying to "stack" a board committee's membership.

What began on June 10 as a public debate over the evaluation process itself, expanded on June 24 to an argument over the chairman's right to make appointments to the Personnel Committee.

The committee has a lead role in evaluating the superintendent.

New Bethel director Dr. Richard DeCarolis found himself -- or at least his board seat -- at the center of the turmoil at the June 24 board meeting.

DeCarolis replaced outgoing director Debra Dohrmann, who did not run for reelection.

The board chairman, according to policy, makes committee assignments in April following the election of directors at area Town Meetings.

Upton: Petition seeks recall of Thompson

By ALISON ALOISIO

A petition seeking the recall of Upton selectman Clayton Thompson was expected to be delivered to town officials yesterday.

Shortly after voters at last week's special Town Meeting approved an ordinance allowing for the recall of elected municipal officials, Mike Lewitt circulated a petition on Thompson. As of Monday night, he had 14 signatures. Ten are required.

Lewitt said the petition cites the following reasons for seeking Thompson's recall: misappropriation of town funds; unauthorized purchases (including a truck, spreader, plow and backhoe loader); unauthorized loan and overdrafts in excess of $41,000.

Thompson has been at the center of controversy over town finances since the annual Town Meeting in April.

Lewitt said he expected to deliver the petition to town officials at the special Town Meeting on July 10.

Selectman Richard LaCerte, a frequent critic of Thompson, said "not comment on the petition" saying it would not be proper for him to be involved.

The vote at last week's meeting to approve the recall ordinance was 22-1. There was no debate. The entire meeting lasted about 45 minutes.

School budget finalized

Some of Upton's children will return to SAD44 next year while two will go to Etna, N.H., following approval of a final school budget at the meeting.

MOVE THE POST OFFICE, PLEASE!

To the Editor:

I am sick and tired of all this post office stuff! Move it here, move it there, keep it where it is -- everyone has an opinion. The experts (U.S. Postal Service people) indicate a clear preference for the Bethel Station location. (Bethel Citizen June 12 edition, page 7) It seems to me that we should be listening to them instead of coming up with five other options or opinions. Let them do their job. They obviously have been through this process many times and we should be putting our faith in someone who knows what they are looking for.

As for the idea of keeping it where it is, first, are we all aware of the amazing cost to raze such a large building? And what about the incredible cost of trucking all this to a DEP approved waste site? That's already a large chunk of change before you even start construction on a new building. While that's all going on, do we set up a temporary post office? Second, right now there seems to be adequate parking near the IGA, post office and behind Ruthies, but remember, this is before the summer tourists get here (before the Fourth of July), and what about December, January, February, March and into mid April when the influx of skiers arrive? There's no parking anywhere! I drive to the post office and there's plenty of times when I've had to drive around town waiting for a spot to open up. The parking areas are full and it's a zoo trying to get into the IGA parking area -- to say nothing of the people that are trying to drive out onto Main Street. Let's not forget these things just because it's not a problem right now.

I have also heard several people express concern for the residents of the Bethel House. The solution is the same as Sudbury Village. There's a mail box available in the lobby for the residents at Sudbury -- couldn't the same be done for the Bethel House? The mailman goes there everyday.

Let's get the post office out of the cramped space it's in and give it some room and a decent parking area where it's accessible to everyone, not just the walkers. There will always be people that can and will walk to it, and some that will drive no matter where you put it. But we need parking space. Bethel Station looks like a wide open space to me.

SO UNANNOUNCE IT

To the Editor:

I am a parent of a 1997 class member and I am outraged at the actions of Ted Davis and Ren Jenkins. They have been presented with a petition clearly stating the majority of this class wants to graduate on Friday night. It is their graduation, to this date no announcements have been ordered, tell me why is it too late?

You are giving these kids one heck of a message. To the majority of this class you have just said it doesn't matter what you want, it will be done our way and to heck with you! How would you like that attitude turned towards you in school?

The community has told you they don't want a change, the graduating class has told you they don't want a change, even the Bethel Police Chief has told you he doesn't think a change would be wise. What does it take? In a span of two weeks it is too late to change back to a date the majority wants because it has been "officially announced." So un-announce it!

SETTING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

To the Editor:

On March 10, Bethel police officer Gene Allen followed my son into my driveway to arrest him for a charge of operating after suspension. A scuffle ensued between officer Allen and my son, and while I do not believe that officer Allen acted appropriately, I know that my son should not have been driving and I am not writing this letter to defend him. From my residence, I saw my son on top of officer Allen during this physical confrontation. I left my home and pulled my son off officer Allen and pushed him away from the officer so that the officer could do what needed to be done. In no way did I touch officer Allen, and my neighbor was a witness to everything which happened between us. Officer Allen regained his feet and then proceeded to come to me and spray mace in my face, eyes, and ears which caused me extreme discomfort. He then arrested me and charged me with assault and obstructing government administration, despite the fact that he knew well that I did nothing other than pull my son off from him to prevent him from being injured.

After hiring an attorney, all of the charges against me have been dismissed. To get this dismissal and avoid further legal expenses and the great inconvenience and hardships of several trials, I agreed to drop any civil claim against officer Allen and the Town of Bethel.

I believe that I would have been successful both in defending the criminal charges against me and also in bringing a civil suit against officer Allen and the Town of Bethel. I decided to drop all of these matters because spending much of the next year in courtrooms was not that appealing to me. I am 56 years old and I own my own construction company in Gilead. I served honorably in the Army for three years with the 82nd Airborne, was a constable in my town for 12 years and a selectman for eight more. I have never had any criminal record whatsoever in my life. I know, the neighbor who witnessed it knows, and officer Allen knows, I did absolutely nothing wrong on March 10, 1996. I write this letter so that people will be aware that just because someone is given a badge and a police officer's uniform, does not mean that their behavior should not be carefully watched. I was mistreated and humiliated by officer Allen and the dismissal of all charges against me is proof of that fact. The newspapers published the fact that I was arrested for these criminal charges. I am writing to both set the record straight that all charges against me have been dismissed, and to also make the public aware of this situation.

DR. O'MEARA WILL BE BACK SOON

To the Editor:

I am sure that many of you have already heard that I was hospitalized at CMMC on June 19 with the diagnosis of a subarachnoid bleed. I feel this letter is needed for at least three reasons. First of all, I would like to publicly acknowledge the wonderful response from many people in the community who have been very supportive of my family and my medical practice. We were deluged with calls, cards and casseroles. While Elizabeth was spending most of the day at the hospital, a number of people helped with maintaining our yard and flower gardens and getting our mail.

Secondly, whenever a story is retold, miscommunications do occur. I think it would be helpful to recount what exactly did happen. On the afternoon of June 19, I had the sudden onset of a very severe headache, which I knew was not an ordinary headache. I was eventually transported to CMMC where a brain CAT scan confirmed a subarachnoid bleed. During the ensuing ten days, I underwent three separate studies of my cerebral arteries, looking for an aneurysm (a weakened, ballooned portion of an artery) as the presumed source of the bleed. No aneurysm was found. I was discharged on June 29.

Thirdly, I'm sure many are wondering what this all means for me both personally and professionally. I have been reassured by my neurosurgeon that not finding an aneurysm is a terrific prognostic indicator. I have not suffered any permanent impairment and the likelihood of a recurrent event is remote. I anticipate that after a couple weeks rest that I will be back at my practice, without any restrictions. In the meantime, Catherine Dorr, PA-C is making sure that things continue to function smoothly at the office.

Again, thanks to a kind and caring community.

GRATEFUL FOR BETHEL'S CONVENTION HOSPITALITY

To the Editor:

Words could never adequately express my sincere gratitude to the community of Bethel for its overwhelming support of the American Legion and Auxiliary Department Convention held June 19-23 at Sunday River. As was stated in The Bethel Citizen in a previous issue, not one business or individual turned down a request for assistance in donating items for 1200 registration packets or for the Auxiliary fair table, or simply in exhibiting Bethel's genuine hospitality. For this, and so very much more, I shall be forever grateful.

For those of you who were as disappointed as we, our sincere apologies for any inconveniences caused due to the cancellation of the parade. This decision was made by others within the organization and not by us who knew that the sun would certainly shine on our many efforts.

No one person is responsible for this. Oxford County's first ever State Convention. Without everyone's tireless efforts, its endeavors would have been in vain. Thanks to everyone for making a dream come true.

WOODLAND CEMETERY UPDATE

To the Editor:

Once more I am attempting to bring readers up to date on what has been happening to one of Bethel's most historic cemeteries. As part of the town's bicentennial observance, it was voted at one of last winter's meetings to see what could be done to improve conditions at Woodland Cemetery.

A meeting was called of those interested and a handful showed up at my house to begin the process. A set of by-laws have now been officially adopted and a slate of officers was approved at the last meeting: president, Gretchen Chapin Davidson; vice president, John Caron; secretary, Barbara Hastings Honkala; treasurer, Mary Clough Keniston; trustees: Elizabeth Lyon Bane, Gary Inman, and Mary Wheeler; sexton, Emerson Clough.

Plans for landscaping, developing the back portion for future lots, restoring gravestones, and enhancing the financial position of the organization were among the topics discussed. Many volunteer hours have been donated by a number of people in the community -- raking, clearing brush, etc. Much more needs to be done and more volunteers are always welcome.

The next meeting of the association will be on Monday, July 8, 7 p.m. at Stan Howe's house, 18 Broad Street. Anyone interested in attending and helping with this bicentennial project is cordially invited to attend.

THANKS FOR HELP WITH THE BICYCLE SAFETY RODEO

To the Editor:

On Saturday, June 3, over 60 SAD44 elementary students participated in the district's second annual Bicycle Safety Rodeo. Skills stations, games, prizes, balloons and refreshments were all part of the fun. Those attending got a free bike inspection from Wallace's Wheels and were able to purchase helmets and other safety items at low cost from the Maine Coalition for Safe Kids.

The Rodeo, co-sponsored by the SAD44 Wellness Team and the Western Maine Regional Council on Addictions, was a culmination of two weeks of bike safety activities integrated into the student's regular classroom. These activities were an enjoyable way of successfully raising our students and community's awareness of safe and appropriate bicycling, a continually growing sport and method of transportation in our area.

The Wellness Team would like to express our thanks to the many individuals whose donations of time, money and props helped to make this a successful community event.

Barb Russell,
for the SAD44 Wellness Team Bicycle Rodeo Committee

'BABES IN TOYLAND' THANKS

To the Editor:

I want to take this time to thank all of my dance students, parents, assistants, family and friends for making it possible to put on a successful production of "Babes in Toyland." I could not do it without your cooperation.

Each student is a "star" in my eyes and it's through a team effort that things run smoothly. We have a lot of talent in this area and we must never forget that many "great stars" come from little towns like Bethel.

My sincere thanks to everyone who helped in any way. I am enjoying my roses and my gifts from all of you. Although it is raining outside today, the sun is shining brightly for me.

MOLLYCKETT DAY BED RACE

To the Editor:

Members of the Bethel Area Health Center are gearing up to defend their title as the fastest (and best?) team with the annual Mollyckett Day Bed Race. Will Tri-Town Rescue be able to gain back the title it previously held? Will Bethel Rescue stage a comeback with its skill treating patients in the middle of Broad Street? Newcomers are always welcome.

A team consists of four "bed-pushers" (pushovers?) and one patient (or guinea pig). Stations include a bed bath, wrapping a hand and a head, and taking vital signs (blood pressure and pulse). All equipment is provided.

The Bed Race is scheduled for 1 p.m. on Saturday, July 20, on Broad Street. It's a fun race to watch as well as enter. For more information, contact me at 674-2963.

THIS WEEK AT THE
Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next monthly meeting will be held on the Fourth of July at the West Bethel Union Church. The meeting will be preceded by a picnic on the church grounds beginning at 6 p.m. Those attending should bring a picnic lunch. Lemonade will be provided by the society.

Following the picnic, the meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. and feature a brief presentation on the church's history (a century old this year) followed by a panel discussion on the Fourth of July in Bethel's past, part of the continuing focus on the town's history in this bicentennial year. Everyone is welcome to come for the picnic and stay for the program.

Members of the Mason family came from several parts of Maine and New Hampshire for the annual family gathering on Sunday, June 29, at the Dr. Moses Mason House. Much family heritage was discussed and several learned more about their family lines.

The fourth annual community picnic will be held on July 4 beginning at noon on the grounds of the Dr. Moses Mason House. It will feature a concert by the Portland Brass Quintet sponsored by a variety of individuals and organizations as well as the Hall Memorial Fund of the Bethel Historical Society. Bring a lunch and enjoy the concert. In case of rain, the concert will be held at historic Middle Intervale Meeting House.

Otten finalizes deal

BOSTON--The deal making Les Otten the owner of North America's largest ski resort company was sealed on Friday. Otten has now added Killington, Mount Snow and Haystack ski areas in Vermont, Waterville Valley in New Hampshire and Sugarloaf/USA in Maine to the resorts he already owns. He must, however, sell Waterville Valley and Cranmore to preserve competition in the New England ski industry, per order of the U.S. Justice Department. Asked about any possible reduction in personnel as a result of the deal, Otten said he expects only to increase the number of employees. "We expect, within 12 to 24 months, the total employment will be higher than it is now," he said.

NOVA secondary budget defeated

RUMFORD--Voters in the NOVA region narrowly defeated the proposed secondary budget of $924,472 for 1996-97. The total vote among member towns was 1,694 to 1,633. Directors then voted to propose a budget of $905,772, and scheduled public hearings, including one July 11 at Telstar High School. Another vote on the secondary budget is set for July 17 at 7 p.m. at Mountain Valley High School in Rumford. NOVA directors voted to delete the SAD44 Business Department from the budget because enrollment is down.

Wilson replaces Curtis

Greenwood--Contractor Dennis Wilson was elected last week to fill out the unexpired term of former selectman Carl Curtis. At a special town meeting on Tuesday, Wilson defeated Gordon Morgan 51-8. Curtis had resigned to take a job with the Town of Van Buren. Voters at the meeting also approved an addressing ordinance for the town (intended to accommodate the enhanced 911 service), and they approved the purchase of a new front-end loader. The addressing ordinance passed without opposition, and given the option of paying cash for the loader or borrowing money for it, voters opted overwhelmingly to pay cash. The money will come from taxes ($60,000), local roads assistance ($15,000) and the road equipment reserve account ($5,000). The new loader will replace a 1980 vehicle that has a broken transmission and is considered too costly to repair.

River watershed grant awarded

PARIS--The Oxford and Androscoggin counties' soil and water conservation districts will take the lead in studying roadside erosion in the Androscoggin River watershed, thanks to a grant of $105,089. Jim Chandler, director of the OCSWD, said the grant is provided by the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the state Department of Environmental Protection. The money will be used over two and-a-half years to provide workshops and demonstration sites for highway crews in at least 12 of the 50 towns in the river's watershed.

Andover hires withdrawal consultant

ANDOVER--The Board of Selectmen voted unanimously last week to pay Dale Doughty of Farmington up to $1,800 to determine the cost of the town running the Andover Elementary School. The town voted in March to study the cost of withdrawing from SAD44. Doughty said he and David Brown would visit the school, study transportation needs, and meet with SAD44 Supt. Ron Jenkins. They would also prepare a hypothetical budget for the case of Andover going it alone and compare it to the cost of remaining in the district.

Outdoors-woman program offered

BRYANT POND--A new training program titled "Becoming an Outdoors Woman" will be offered this fall at the Maine Conservation School. The three-day, hands-on program will include topics such as canoeing, fly fishing, riflery, orienteering, hiking, outdoor cooking, first aid, survival skills, stream and lake ecology, archery, outdoor photography, hunting with dogs and field dressing game. Most of the instructors will be professional Maine women, including staff from the Department of Fish and Wildlife, registered Maine guides, certified hunter safety instructors and senior staff from the Maine Conservation School. Scheduled for Sept. 13-15, the program is aimed at adult women 18 and over. For more information call 207-665-2068.

Police beef up enforcement for Fourth

AUGUSTA--Maine State Police are planning a week-long effort of additional enforcement in response to the expected heavy traffic influx for the July 4th holiday. Among enforcement activities planned are additional roving patrols looking for drunk drivers, OUI roadblocks, aircraft and speed enforcement details and efforts to keep traffic moving. Several Maine laws also change on July 4th, including a 2-percent increase in all fines for traffic and criminal charges. Another change makes seat belt usage mandatory for anyone between the ages of 4 and 19.

Turkey hunt sets record

AUGUSTA--Maine's 1996 turkey hunting season, which took place during May, set several records. Preliminary results indicate a record 288 male birds taken. Also, a record number of 1,250 hunters tagged some birds that weighed in excess of 22 pounds. This is the first year that wild turkey hunting has been opened in a northern zone. Comparatively mild winters and healthy turkey populations have contributed to an eastward expansion of the birds, allowing hunters this year to pursue male turkeys as far east as the Penobscot River.

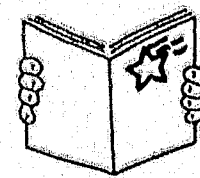

High-tech hikers still get lost

WATERVILLE VALLEY, N.H.--Two Pennsylvania hikers learned that even the most up-to-date equipment won't help in the White Mountain National Forest without an old-fashioned map. Ari Pinski, 25, of Wynnewood, Pa., and Stacy Gayman, 32, of Philadelphia, used their cellular phone on June 22 to alert authorities that they were lost. Fish and Game Lt. David Hewitt said the couple took a global positioning unit to help them on their hike, but the technology proved useless without a map. "Without a map or knowing the exact location which you want to travel to, there is no way to plot a course to lead you to your destination," said Hewitt, who coordinated the search. Fortunately, searchers were able to use their own positioning units and maps to locate the couple. Searchers had only been trained with the new technology just four days ahead of time. The positioning unit is a satellite-based system that receives information from several of 24 satellites, which continuously circle the earth in six different orbits.

Skydiving stunt goes awry

QUINCY, Mass.--Four "Flying Elvises" trying to skydive into a parking lot to entertain a crowd were blown off course, crashing onto land and into Boston Harbor. One died today and another was hospitalized. The four stuntmen, costumed in fringed white jumpsuits with slicked-back hair and sunglasses, were supposed to swoop over the crowd celebrating Tuesday's grand opening of the outdoor WaterWorks nightclub on the harbor. A landing area was cordoned off in the club parking lot in North Quincy, just south of Boston, and spotters were ready to help them after the twilight jump. However, the wind blew one into a yacht club in the nearby Dorchester section of Boston, one fell onto a nearby street, and two splashed into Boston Harbor.

FROM THE

Townfolk are very busy around the ole homesteads this time of year. As spring cleaning both indoors and outdoors progresses, there is a large increase in the use of the transfer station. The volume of bulky waste rises significantly. This classification of waste includes old furniture, construction debris, yard waste and clean wood. Basically, it is everything that is not metal, household trash, recyclable or hazardous.

Compared to this time last year, bulky waste has shown a huge increase in the numbers of tons handled at the transfer station. Thirty-nine tons in five months is an increase of 49 percent. The disposal of this material is an expensive service that is paid by the taxpayers. The town does limit the drop-off amount to six cubic yards. The purpose behind this is to protect and insure service to smaller, residential projects. Any type of project which exceeds this limit, must make arrangements with a private contractor. This has made a significant difference, yet Bethel grows.

Recently, this specific disposal contract was awarded to Grimmel's Industries. Grimmel's offered the town very competitive prices. It costs roughly $90 per ton to dispose of oversized waste. Even with the 49-percent volume increase, its disposal cost less during the 1996 time period as compared to 1995. At that time, it cost about $150 per ton.

The point is that bulky waste disposal is growing to be a hefty financial burden. Bulky disposal is very expensive and will continue to be. It is second only to the disposal costs of household trash. The volume of household trash can be reduced by recycling. It was demonstrated at the end of 1995, recycling cost $45 per ton as compared to $75 per ton to "pitch." Imagine how much could be saved if generators would reduce and reuse bulky waste. For example, yard waste can be composted. Scrap lumber could be donated. Please think twice; can you reuse it? Can someone else use it? Every one of you does make a difference.

In closing, we are always looking for volunteers to help address the issues of solid waste management. Solid Waste Management is the most expensive component of the town's budget. Every year, the amount of your tax dollar that is dedicated to waste management increases. If you have any ideas, concerns or questions, write or contact me at the town office.

Welcome aboard to Kim Sargent, our deputy town clerk. Kim has been with us at the Town Office for almost three months. If you have recently registered a dog, car or recreational vehicle, you probably have met her. Kim's other duties include issuing fishing and hunting licenses, collecting taxes, voter registration, answering the phone and directing calls. Kim is a quick learner, which has been a blessing. She is very customer service oriented and has a great sense of humor. The Town Office has already received many compliments concerning her pleasant nature. She enjoys working with the public and it shows.

We welcome Virginia Johnson to the front office as well. Virginia has been a town employee for eight years and has recently moved out front. Her greater job function is sewer and ambulance billing. And she will be assisting with counter work. Virginia is very willing to please and also enjoys interacting with the public.

Also from the Front Office, a card of thanks is extended to the election and ballot clerks. Their duties on election day are primarily checking voters to make sure they are registered and counting ballots at the close of the polls. Once again, an example of caring citizens making things happen.

The staff at the Town Office would like to extend a big welcome to Bethel's seasonal residents and visitors. And remind these folks that the office displays public notices, community event schedules, and information concerning permits and recycling. Also available is information about fishing and hunting regulations, support programs and other community oriented notices. Please visit or call us with any questions.

From the Bethel Police log:

Juveniles jettison evidence

On June 26 at 11 p.m. police observed a vehicle speeding, then making an illegal pass on Route 2 near AutoTec. The officer signaled the driver to stop, but he continued east on the one-way on Railroad Street. The officer then signaled with lights and siren, but the car still did not stop. He continued to follow it, while the subjects in the vehicle began throwing what appeared to be beer cans out the windows. The driver continued until he lost control and struck an embankment at the intersection of Rowe Hill and Sheepscot Road in Greenwood City. It was learned the two juvenile subjects were runaways and the vehicle was reportedly stolen out of Rumford. The operator also confessed to burglaries of an Andover residence.

Thursday, June 27

At 12:23 a.m., an officer was following a rescue ambulance with two prisoners in his custody, when a deer entered the road. The lights from an oncoming vehicle made it difficult to see the deer, and the cruiser struck it. The deer was killed and the front of the cruiser damaged. There were no injuries.

At 8:30 p.m. a member of the Bethel Fire Department reported several cows were in the road on Route 5. Police checked the area and spoke with the owner of the animals. He said the cows were all home now.

At 11:30 p.m. a Bethel Park Apartments resident reported that at least eight subjects were involved in fights in the parking area. Several subjects were highly intoxicated and were pushing and shoving. They all dispersed. None were charged, but they were warned for disorderly conduct and advised that if police had to return they would be summoned or arrested.

Friday, June 28

At 12:03 a.m. police responded to Bethel Park Apartments for an unwanted subject. On arrival the officer saw several subjects involved in fights. One had a wrench in his hand and appeared to be about to strike another subject. While the officer was speaking to one subject, the other lunged forward, pushing through the officer and grabbing the other's arm. Jon R. Thompson, 34, of Windham was then arrested for assault, taken to the Oxford County jail and held in lieu of bail. A rescue unit was also called to check the subjects. One was taken to Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Saturday, June 30

At 1:29 a.m. a Northwest Bethel Road resident reported a trash can was on fire in the IGA parking lot. Police spoke with a witness, who said he saw several subjects walk up Main Street seconds after the fire started. Police saw only smoke, as everything had burned and the fire was out.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies. An answering machine takes calls when an officer is not in the office.

Tips from the Community Lakes Association

Carry a litter bag on your boat and make sure nothing is thrown into the lake. Pick up trash and other obstacles floating in the water. Fishing lines, plastic lures or lead sinkers left in the water could kill fish and waterfowl.

she said. The money, which comes from the federal Economic Development Administration, will fund utilities (storm and sewer drains) work along Cross and Mechanic streets, the parkway and Route 26. It will also pay for water mains outside of the project area, for a water-system filter and for upgrades at the sewerage treatment plant. The balance of the estimated $3.1 million needed to complete the work is coming from a combination of grants and direct funding from the developers.

Long time coming

Since July 1993, when the Bethel Station project was first announced, the developers have said federal grants were essential if a successful funding package were to be put together.

It was originally hoped that the money would be available in early 1994, but budget problems in Washington kept stringing out the process.

In turn, these delays were a major factor in the slow progress of Bethel Station.

At one point in 1994, the developers were even proposing so-called "enhancement" financing from the town to make up for the missing federal money. That idea was met with a cold reception and soon dropped.

Last week's formal announcement was made by U.S. Sens. Bill Cohen and Olympia Snowe, and by U.S. Rep. John Baldacci.

"This is great news for the town of Bethel," said Cohen and Snowe in a joint statement. "The project will have a positive economic impact on the community not only during its construction, but for years to come by providing a permanent site to attract both businesses and customers to Bethel. "Tourism represents one of Maine's most important industries, and the Bethel Station Project will serve to attract even more visitors to the state when it is completed," the senators said.

Baldacci said: "I have visited Bethel and know how important development of Bethel Station is for the town. I contacted the Economic Development Administration several times on the town's behalf, and am pleased that EDA has made this crucial award."

Enhancement grant

The town has also been awarded a smaller, but still significant $413,000 grant from the Maine Department of Transportation and the Federal Highway Administration.

That grant will be used to pay 80 percent of the cost of "enhancements" associated with the Bethel Station project -- such as pedestrian and bike paths, more sidewalks and a cantilevered snowmobile bridge addition to the present Route 2 bridge in Mayville.

The remaining 20 percent of the cost (the town's share) is to come from the value of donated rights-of-way for the projects.

Finalization of the enhancement grant will depend in large part on whether the value of the rights of way is sufficient to leverage enough grant money to successfully complete the project.

The parties involved are currently attempting to work out the value of the land, to determine what the various elements of the projects will cost, and to decide which would be included or cut if there is a budget shortfall.

Air cadets learn search and rescue techniques

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Civil Air Patrol cadets strapped a "victim" onto a stretcher, preparing him to be hoisted by cable up to a hovering Air Force helicopter.

Sergeant Ed Fenby's advice to them seemed at first contradictory. "The most important person you take care of is you," he said. "You take care of yourself."

He paused. The cadets waited for an explanation.

"You can't do him any good if you're not O.K.," Fenby finished, emphasizing the need for care in a rescue situation.

Seventy-four teenagers from Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont took part in a nine-day search and rescue training program at the Bog Brook Training Facility in Gilead last week.

The Civil Air Patrol is a civilian auxiliary of the U.S. Air Force. It trains the teens to provide search and rescue services, and gives them a chance to learn about aerospace, the military and leadership skills.

Helping them out at Bog Brook last Thursday was an Air Force Blackhawk helicopter based in Long Island, New York.

Fenby took the cadets through the stretcher procedure. Another crew member also showed them how two uninjured people could be lifted, sitting, on another hoist.

Then it was time to learn firsthand how to sit in the hoist. In groups of six (and wearing earplugs), the cadets ran out into a field. They crouched in the blast of air from the helicopter hovering 30 feet above them.

Two at a time, a crewman on the ground signaled them to get into the hoist, facing each other. The vertical trip was quick, with another crewman pulling them inside.

All aboard, the Blackhawk quickly landed, the group unloaded, and the helicopter returned to a hover, ready for the next six.

The smiling cadets returned to the main group. "It was great," said one.

Learning teamwork

Earlier in the week, some second-year cadets learned how to rappell down a mountain cliff.

"It was very scary, going down and not knowing where you're going," said cadet Sgt. Ed Thibodeau of South Portland.

But cadet Major Joshua Broder of Cumberland said the end result for the cadets is more confidence in themselves and the teamwork it takes to get down the cliff.

"Rappelling is an integral part of what we do," said Broder, who is a sport climber as well.

Just graduated from high school, cadet lieutenant colonels Wade Miller and Tara Wheeler will both be going into the Air Force in a few weeks -- at a higher rank than they would otherwise, thanks to their CAP experience.

Wheeler followed her sister into the civil air patrol, after seeing the trips and experiences she had.

"It develops you so much -- your confidence. You meet a lot of people," she said.

Edward Landrigan, an Air Force liaison Master Sergeant, said CAP is considering starting a squadron based in Norway, if enough area young people are interested. The nearest CAP unit now is in Lewiston.

Anyone interested in the patrol can call Landrigan at 622-4979.

consent, and another vote will follow.

On Tuesday he still considered himself a candidate. "I'm not sure," he said, when asked if he would accept reappointment.

He said he thought he was not reappointed because "some of the people on the board don't think I can do the job they want to."

When the question of which he considered himself on the board, he said, he said he had a problem with the board's decision.

Other appointments

The board also put off a decision on appointing a school director to fill out the one remaining year of Merton Brown's term.

There was only one candidate for the position, Rick Possee, and no one on the board knew him.

That position will also be re-evaluated.

The following appointments were made last week -- Planning Board: Reginald Brown, David B. Brown, Daniel Reich, Conservation Commission: Thomas Wheeler, Bonnie Pooley, Budget Committee: Dwight Merrill, Pat Doon, Recreation Board: Nancy Murphy, Wayne Cunamings, M. Alberta Merrill, Airport Authority: Cathy Newell.

Recall

The school committee was asked to recall a total of 100 votes.

The committee is held an extra meeting on additional recall funds. The committee also approved at the meeting on Monday in April.

The committee will go to the school committee on Monday to recall the school committee.

legal settlement with Robert D'Appolito.

D'Appolito sued the town two years ago after the school committee rescinded its approval of his bid to transport students to school.

The settlement amounted to approximately $7,200, plus court fees and interest, according to SAD44 Supt. Ron Jenkins. The $1,500 makes up the difference needed following the finalization of the figures.

Morning temperatures in the 40s belie the fact that by afternoon its begun to feel like summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Newell, former next door neighbors, who are now living in Texas, spent an evening with us recently.

Last Saturday, Norma and I rode to Unity to visit relatives and attend the wedding reception for my brother's grandson and new bride of Iowa. He is a teacher and interpreter of sign language. She is a psychiatrist who did her internship at Maine Medical.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Halle and great-granddaughter Abby, spent the day on Wednesday with Phyllis and Bill Bancroft, helping with some outside chores.

Other visitors last week were Bruce and Alta Smith; Byron Lapham; Mrs. Agnes Lahti; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gardner; Mrs. Muriel Kimball, her daughter Sharon and son Jeffrey and Mrs. Scribner.

Mrs. Norma Salway visited another CPS teacher on Monday, Mrs. Kathy McCluskey who is a patient at Maine Medical Center. She also visited with Kassi and Kaity Gatchell. Kaity just finished her first year at kindergarten.

Visitors here Wednesday evening were Mrs. Sylvia Swan and children of Auburn, who earlier in the day had visited relatives in Rumford.

It's the little things that bother us, and put us on the rack. You can sit upon a mountain, but you can't sit on a tack. M. Woods.

I have a gallery of landscapes in my memory, of things seen, that I can take out on days empty of beauty and enjoy in retrospect, almost as much as I did when I tucked them away in my mind. I have needed them this last week with so many gray days. But the world is young again; refreshed, it has awakened by the night's rain.

Over the gray-blue water of the pond, from my window, the water at times looked like silver-plated lead. A squirrel hung perilously like a trapeze artist from a tree branch. I watched as he calculated the distance to another limb, and made the leap, when the wind blew the branch nearer. Probably the same one that tries to walk my rope to get seeds from the feeder. Today I watched him work on a jar with seeds inside, protected by a plastic turn-on cover. I keep it in my lawn swing, and when I sit there he visits me. Squirrel gnawed the cover until he could remove it, then tipped the jar to get at the seeds. Clever beast!

There is a warm hint of days to come, when the sun can get a chance to peep out.

But beauty is somewhere in every day. You can see it in the changing color of the pond, in the motion of waves, in the blue heron, unafraid, takes time to fish in the shallows.

In the morning there is freshness. If it's foggy or rainy, though the day is not so fresh, there is unreal quality that sets the mind running in poetic channels.

From my window at night, I can see a moon that's young and delicate and stars out by the millions. What a lovely scene!

I have had several visitors during the week: Robert Holt and daughter Jennett of Windsor, Denise Adams and Milton and Eleanor Inman.

Rena Curtis' daughter Colista Cogswell and Lillian Strait visited Rena over the weekend.

Dot Betts and I joined several others for lunch in South Paris, then spent the afternoon with Avis Stellhorn at her home in West Paris.

Ann Holt had her father and mother at her home on Wednesday for their anniversary celebration supper. On Thursday, they were in Berlin for dinner.

Andy Larson celebrated his birthday June 22. I made him a cake and got ice cream. I won't tell how many candles were on the cake, since he likes to keep people guessing.

Ann Fitzmorris and I took a trip to Norway and Oxford last week and did some shopping at the local stores.

There is a mama duck in the pond with thirteen babies. Since she is rather small, I don't know how she tucks them all under her wings at night. She has been very fortunate that she has not lost any yet, and they are all growing like the weeds they eat.

I want to apologize to Mickie and Jarrod Huston for inadvertently leaving their names out when I wrote about Tracy's graduation party. Since they are two of my favorite people, Jarrod even calls me gramma, I can't imagine how they managed to slip by. Anyhow, they did attend and very welcome guests they were.

James Ruffin of the Brick Park in Rumford is visiting Debbie and Owen Brown and family for a few days this week. Debbie even gave him a mahogany hair color which should start a new fad amongst his friends when he gets home. He's been trying to convince Owen he should have his done the same color, but so far Owen has been able to resist.

Jazz-Poochie has been trying out all his escape tricks on Andy lately. He's not able to use them on me much anymore, but he's delighted that he's been able to use them again with someone else. So far, with the help of Vi Palmer and family and a couple of neighbors, he hasn't been able to enjoy his freedom for very long. I'm sure he's spending a lot of time figuring out how to escape.

The Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary met on Monday at the fire station with Veronica Penley and Karyn, Sally Melville, Ruth Pilling, Denise Swan, Lorraine Mills, Mary Stone, Cheryl Young and Maggie Ring present. Oh, yes, the new town manager was also there. I haven't learned how to spell her name yet, but she's known as Liz.

The Greenwood Fire Department wishes every home in Greenwood to have a smoke detector. If you are interested in obtaining one, please contact Maggie Ring or Wayne Hakala. These are free of charge and if you need them installed, they will do that too, at no charge. Please don't go without one. The fire department and auxiliary are here for you, to keep you safe from fire.

On Saturday, June 22, the North Waterford Fair Association held their yearly auction at the fairgrounds hall. They had a good crowd and sold quite a few items to the highest bidders. Auctions are fun but I missed out on that one as I was here at the Stoneham Church Bake Sale, which is held every Saturday from 10 to 2 during the summer. Also, we have thrift sales with all kinds of bargains.

Church services will be held at the East Stoneham Congregational Church UCC during the month of July.

On Tuesday, June 25, Jim Favor of Connecticut, called on Albert and Eleanor Nelson for a brief visit.

I called on Gladys Kilgore on Tuesday at the Norway Convalescent Home, and found her doing well. I enjoyed a cup of coffee with her in the nice dining room.

The Stoneham Rescue Service has started their Beano games on Tuesdays at 7 p.m. during July and August.

We send out congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Tinder on their recent marriage at the Christ Episcopal Church on June 22. May you have many happy days together. Mrs. Tinder is the former Melissa Billington from Milford. The couple will be living in Lewiston.

Church Vacation Bible School will be August 12 to 16 at the North Waterford Congregational Church UCC from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m. every day. This is a fun and learning time for children of the area.

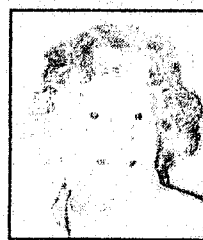

Mrs. Helen Havista of Florida has been visiting with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heino.

Nick Barker has been putting on a new roof for Lawrence Darnum this past week.

I hope you all have a safe and happy 4th of July.

I received a card in the mail today, and wish to share part of it with you: Kind hearts are the garden, Kind thoughts are the roots, Kind words are the blossoms, Kind deeds are the fruits. John Ruskin.

North Newry

by
Gil Seeley
The Newry Grange Hall was the scene of a great get-together for family and friends of Karlene and Ras Bachelder. Five generations were present, but little three month old Nikolaus stole the show. He is the son of their granddaughter Michelle and Paul Josephson of Cumberland. Then there was Karlene's mother Julia Goodwin of Unity and her sister Wilma Stewart also of Unity. Karlene and Ras' son Don and wife Christine and son Brett of Oxford, Ga.; another son and wife Aaron and Colleen and their children, Holly, Jennifer, Krista and Aaron Jr. of Mars Hill; another son Brent Bachelder and friend Peter Haraty of Rhode Island; daughter Claire and husband George Romano of Phelan, Calif.; Claire's son, Tom O'Donnell and friend Lauren Smith of Portland; George's two sons Bob and Mike from Salem; Shelby and Josh Merriam of Mars Hill; Marcia Mattor (Ras' niece); Robert and Mary York of Belgrade, Fla.; Nancy Wight and son Mike of Newry; Betsy Clark and Gil Seeley of Newry. Of all the Bachelder's children, only daughter Heidi and husband Arlan Littlefield and children Jodi and Julie were not able to attend because of summer school commitments in Nashville. It was a fun time for everyone, good food and noisy conversation, picture taking and some videos.

Karlene Bachelder, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley and Doris Parent, members of the Newry Bowling Gang, were at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford one day last week. On the overall scores, Gil was high on both the singles and triples. Of the righties, Doris was high on both singles and triples. Gil had two spares and one strike. Karlene one spare and Doris two spares.

Upton

by
Amy Geiling
Hello sun! The last weekend of June brought Upton beautiful weather. Wishing everybody a pleasant Fourth of July celebration.

Fred Judkins and Marian York visited the store last week and made their rounds to say hello to friends.

Welcome to the Stratton family and friends visiting their camp on Mill Road. They come to fish Umbagog, find some good bargains in the North Conway area and catch up on some old-fashioned R & R. I'm looking forward to Eric's lasagna.

Sylvia Harrington from North Newry and a friend came to Upton to see the lupines after reading my column.

Toneloaf and his wife Lisa visited from Boulder, Colo. Looked like they had a good time at the Suds!

Trivia time; Jerry said that Route 26 once ran where Backstreet is now.

West Paris by Russell Yates
Howdy friends, it's raining again, so it is a good time for me to type up my news for the past week.

As I think you all know by now, I suffered some kind of a seizure on Father's Day, and was taken by ambulance to the hospital. Monday morning I had a cat scan and told them they wouldn't find much inside my head, and after doing the scan, the doctor agreed with me. They prescribed more pills for me to take. The truth of the matter is that I haven't felt like running any races since having the spell, but we did attend the supper and CWA meeting of Franklin Grange on Monday evening.

There will be dancing at West Paris Grange Hall on July 6, with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra. It's a good place to have a good time.

Franklin Grange of Bryant Pond will be having a Ladies Night on July 15, with a 6:30 salad supper.

A Phone Call Away

Each Officer is supposed to ask some lovely lady to take his or her office for the evening, and is supposed to furnish a gift for that lovely lady. Please remember your duties for the evening.

West Paris Grange will not have a meeting on July 4.

Peggy and sister Laura went to Auburn and Lewiston for some shopping, and I rode along. Peggy needed some typewriter supplies and also did some shopping at JoAnne Fabrics. You certainly can find almost anything you want for cloth there. They have a beautiful supply of cloth, plus lots of craft items. If any of you ladies have never been there, you should go, you'll never regret it.

We went to Myrna and Bernard White's home for dinner. Their home is in Auburn and they have just had a complete new kitchen installed. The new floor covering is very nice.

We had a lovely dinner, or perhaps you call it lunch, and visited for a short while. Sister Laura is now a member of the board of selectmen in Andover, and was anxious to return home to attend a meeting.

I had to go for more blood tests on Thursday, and then we stopped to see Mary Smith at the nursing home. Mary is doing better than she was for a while, but she still spends much of her time in bed, where she seems to be more comfortable.

Thursday evening we attended the excellent salad supper and meeting of West Paris Grange. This was called Corresponding Officer's Night, and I got Esther Crooker, chaplain of Oxford Grange, to come take my place as chaplain. We had quite a few visitors from other Granges and it seemed good to have more people lined up around the hall. The State Grange Master, Clyde Berry, and a friend were up from Augusta. The State Grange Master presented a certificate for 25 years of continuous membership to Audrey Hadley, and a certificate for 50 years of membership to Walter Bragg. It was a very nice meeting.

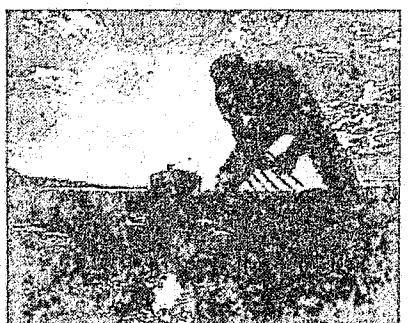

Ron Heath from Woodstock called Friday to let Peggy know that her car was now ready to go, and since our niece, Hilda Taylor, was taking her car up for inspection, Peggy rode with her to get her car.

Peggy's granddaughter, Melissa

Blossy from Miami, called to let Peggy know that she is changing jobs and will be studying for four weeks to be a stewardess or hostess on Pan Am Airlines. They are based in Miami, so Melissa can continue to live in Miami, a city she likes.

Doc Merrill wasn't feeling well on Saturday and didn't feel like going to the dance, so Peggy stayed home with me.

Sunday afternoon, we attended the reception for Dorothy (Teddy) McGray at the Oxford Legion Hall. She is now Grand Chief of the Grand Temple of Maine Pythian Sisters. Teddy has many friends and the party was well attended. Music was furnished by the Richard Felt Orchestra and there were songs and readings by several different people as part of the program. Teddy asked me to speak a certain piece about a 10-cent can of paint and a toilet seat, that I have spoken many times. It seemed that many others enjoyed it as much as Teddy did. The party ended with a bountiful lunch and cake. We all wish Teddy a good year in her new endeavor. I feel sure that Teddy will make it a very successful year.

Children Have An Identity (CHAD) Stickers Available

CHAD is a national campaign to identify children in child safety seats. The CHAD safety seat identification program has been developed as a result of a traffic crash involving a 13-month old boy named Chad. The baby-sitter was killed. Chad was injured, but no one at the scene knew his identity. Only because an emergency room nurse recognized him, could his parents be quickly located and his injuries treated.

To insure rapid identification of children in emergencies, parents and guardians of small children are encouraged to fill out the information on the sticker and place it on the right front corner (child's right) under the cushion or center back of the child safety seat.

There is room provided to list the home and work phone numbers of both parents. There is also space to list the infant's physician and name of emergency contact and their phone numbers.

The program was created by the National Board of Travelers Protective Association, who have adopted the CHAD sticker program as a national safety program.

The Transit Division offices are located at Marketplace Square, So. Paris and at the Chisolm School, 100 York St., Rumford.

The Maladies of Summer

By: Teofilio L. Lee-Chiong MD

With the hot summer months come a variety of illnesses caused by exposure to heat. Most heat related injuries are minor and non-life threatening. These include heat edema (swelling of the ankles and legs), heat cramps (painful muscle spasms), and heat syncope (temporary loss of consciousness). Heat edema, which develops during prolonged sitting or standing, generally responds rapidly to leg elevation and frequent periods of rest. Similarly, simple rest and muscle massage often suffice for most cases of heat cramps. Since individuals suffering from heat cramps lose large amounts of body salts from sweating, liberal intake of electrolyte-rich drinks may be beneficial.

Lightheadedness is not uncommon during excessive heat exposure. Often, syncope can be avoided by sitting or lying down whenever one experiences lightheadedness or weakness.

In contrast to these minor heat illnesses, heatstroke, if unrecognized and left untreated, may be potentially fatal. Last summer, the unusually severe heat wave which descended on Chicago was directly responsible for 465 heat-related deaths. In addition, there was a marked increase in fatalities due to diseases involving the heart, lungs and central nervous system. Overall, more than 1,000 people died in Chicago during July 13 to 21 of 1995.

Victims of heatstroke include the elderly and debilitated during heat waves as well as the young and healthy. It has been described in athletes, military recruits at boot camp, underground miners, marching band members and outdoor workers unaccustomed to strenuous activity in hot weather. Individuals often complain of weakness, headaches, nausea and muscle pain. Breathing may become labored. Injuries to the central nervous system can manifest as delirium or seizures.

Suspected victims of heatstroke must be kept out of direct sun and transferred promptly to a cooler location, such as indoors or underneath a shade. After they are disrobed, their skin should be moistened and cooled by fanning. Keeping victims covered with cool, wet sheets is a reasonable alternative. During transport to the hospital, cooling may be accomplished by placing the victim next to an open window or air conditioner.

Heatstroke is generally preventable. Activities in hot environments should be minimized until acclimation is achieved; this normally takes about two weeks. If possible, outdoor exercise can be scheduled during cooler times of the day such as early mornings, late afternoons, or evenings. When outdoor activities are unavoidable (e.g., during parades or athletic competitions), participants should take frequent rest periods. It is advisable to drink cool and refreshing fluids early before the onset of thirst. Salt tablets are not recommended. Patients who are taking diuretic medications or require fluid restriction should first consult their physicians prior to embarking upon strenuous outdoor pursuits.

Apparel must be thin, loose-fitting, light-colored and water-permeable. A wide-brimmed hat or umbrella can significantly reduce direct radiant heat from the sun. Tying a wet scarf over the forehead or loosely around the neck can enhance cooling.

Indoor ambient temperature can be modified by fans or air conditioners. However fans, alone, may be inadequate during periods of high humidity. Frequent baths or showers may provide additional relief from environmental heat. Individuals without home air conditioners should seek cooler areas such as shopping centers, theaters or public libraries. Elderly individuals living alone or in nursing homes must be closely supervised.

Careful preparation for anticipated warm weather and sensible caution during heat exposures can ensure the full enjoyment of summer and minimize its maladies.

Note: Dr. Lee-Chiong is the author of "Heatstroke and other heat-related illnesses" (Postgraduate Medicine, 1995), "Disorders of temperature regulation" (Comprehensive Therapy, 1995) and the book chapter "Disorders of temperature regulation" in Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine. Employed by Mountain Health Services, he is the Medical Director of the Intensive Care Unit, Cardiopulmonary Services and Pulmonary Rehabilitation of Androscoggin Valley Hospital and the Medical Director of the Coos County Nursing Home in Berlin, NH.

Cook Safely Outdoors

(NU) - The secret to safe and happy outdoor cooking? "Keep hot foods hot, cold foods cold and everything clean," says Dr. Kathryn L. Kotula, a professor of food science at the University of Delaware and scientific advisor to the National Broiler Council. More of her tips:

- Keep raw red meat, poultry and fish — and their juices — away from other food.

- Use a clean platter to serve cooked food, not the same platter you used to carry raw food to the grill.

- Clean the grill thoroughly before cooking.

- Cook food thoroughly. Cook chicken parts — such as legs, wings and breast portions — to an internal temperature of 170 to 175 degrees.

- Don't leave food out for more than two hours after serving.

If you have more questions about meat and poultry safety, call the U.S. Department of Agriculture hotline at (800) 535-4555 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Eastern time on weekdays.

Insect Stings Can Be Life-Threatening

(NU) - To encourage a safe summer for everyone, the American College of Allergy and Immunology recommends the following three A's to manage insect stings: Allergist — Consult an allergist regarding evaluation for preventive treatment: Adrenaline — Always carry self-injectable epinephrine: Avoidance — practice insect avoidance. For a free information brochure on allergic reactions to insect stings, call 1-800-23-STING. (News USA)

Bicycle Safety Tips

How to Keep Your Child Safe This Summer

by: The Bethel Area Health Center

Head injuries are the most common cause of death among bicyclists. The most severe injuries are those to the brain that cause permanent damage. How can we prevent these tragedies?

1) Bicyclists should buy and wear an approved bike helmet which meets the standards of the Snell Memorial Foundation and/or the American National Standards Institute. Check the inside of the helmet for the certifying sticker. It is important to allow children to pick out their helmet since it must be worn everytime he or she rides.

2) Make certain that your child's bike is the correct size, safely maintained and has reflectors.

3) Bicyclists must obey the same traffic laws as a motor vehicle. Instruct children on these rules of the road. Children under age nine should not ride their bicycles on the road.

4) Never allow your child to ride with audio headphones or to ride at night. Stress the need to ride alert since most drivers do not see riders.

NOTES FROM

Adult Education

The Summer Adult Education classes for the Telstar Region for July and August have been announced by the SAD44 Adult Education program. The schedule includes several computer classes, academic offerings at the Adult Learning Center for high school completion or college preparation, and a course in high school chemistry for adults seeking entry into post-secondary programs. Classes include:

Introduction to Computers: a five-week class at Telstar, for the beginner. This class will cover the basics with emphasis on Windows, and will be taught by Jim Connolly. The class will meet on Wednesdays from 5 to 7 p.m., starting July 10, 1996.

Introduction to Computers and WordPerfect: An intensive daytime class at the Adult Learning Center for beginning-level students. This class will meet from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays for two weeks from July 9 to July 18 or July 30 to Aug. 8. Jeanette Baldrige is the instructor. $35.

WordPerfect 6.0 for Windows: For those with a basic working knowledge of the personal computer and of the keyboard. This class will meet at Telstar on Tuesdays for six weeks, starting July 2, from 6 to 8 p.m. The instructor is Ruth Brown. $40.

Introduction to the Internet: For those with a basic knowledge of IBM machines and Windows who are interested in learning the basics of Internet searches and e-mail. This class will meet at Crescent Park School with Peter Kuzyk from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursdays, starting July 11 for five weeks. $25.

GED Preparation and Testing, high school diploma credit courses, brush-up for college, and computer tutorials are all offered at the Adult Learning Center on Philbrook Street in Bethel. These opportunities are open to those who are not enrolled in high school. Work is done at the individual student's own pace under the direction of instructors Kay Larson and Jeanette Baldrige, with assistance from volunteer tutor Frank Gibson. Adult Learning Center summer hours are Tuesday and Thursday mornings, 9 to noon; and Wednesday evenings, 5 to 8 p.m., starting July 2 through Aug. 8. There is no charge for academic instruction. Computer tutorials are offered at $25 per tutorial course (WordPerfect, Lotus, Microsoft Works, and Mavis Beacon Teaches Typing are available.)

A 50-hour course in high school chemistry with lab will be offered for adults in need of a chemistry credit for entry into post-secondary technical programs. The class will meet on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from July 31 to Aug. 23, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Telstar High School. The intensive nature of this course requires that applicants have basic math and reading competencies as evidenced by a score of 10.0 on the Test of Adult Basic Education (TABE), which is given at the Learning Center. Melissa Poirier of the Telstar faculty is the instructor. Tuition is $125, with a lab fee of $25, and book fee of $65. The book fee is refundable upon return of book in unmarked condition.

To register, call the Adult Education office, 824-2780. Registrations may be left on the answering machine at any hour.

Along with managing 23 campgrounds and miles of hiking trails throughout the National Forest, we manage for wildlife habitat, water, timber and wilderness.

FROM THE

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

The seventh annual Bethel Art Fair is scheduled for this Saturday, July 6, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Dozens of artists and craftpeople will exhibit and sell their work from their booths on the common. From 11:30 to 1:30 p.m. the 16-piece Phil Rich Big Band will treat the crowd to a wide array of music from the jazzbo. Local restaurants will make available a delicious variety of lunch foods. The women's fellowship of the West Bethel Union Church and the West Parish Congregational Church will offer coffee, donuts, muffins, cookies, breads and pies. Judging of the art will be done by noon. A decorative George York inflatable sculpture will adorn the center of the common, thanks to the generosity of the Mahosuc Arts Council, who will also have a booth at the fair. A youth art exhibit will again be a part of the festivities. The chamber will raffie two framed pieces: a lovely oil painting of the Artist's Covered Bridge by Helen Morton and a commemorative Art Fair poster designed by photographer Sharon McNeill. All framing has been donated by Rene McGrew of Bethel Frames. Tickets are $1 each, six for $5 and are available at the chamber office at the Key Bank and the Northeast Bank and from chamber directors. The Art Fair has been sponsored this year by Coca-Cola Bottling Co., The Bethel Citizen, The Sun Journal/Sunday, the Bethel Inn, Northeast Bank and area merchants. Plan to come, bring your chairs to listen to the great music and spend the day!

We are actively signing up teams for the July 15 McDonald's/Jordan Bethel Area Chamber Golf Classic to be held at the Bethel Inn & Country Club. For $65 per person, or $250 per team, golfers can enjoy 18 holes of golf in a fun, friendly format, a chance to win one of many great prizes including a round trip ticket anywhere that Delta Air Lines flies in addition to a lot of prizes. Anyone can sign up by calling 824-2282 or picking up an application. We expect a full field of 140 golfers, so sign up soon!

We are also registering runners, walkers and triathletes for both the Key Bank/Mollycokett Day Classic on Saturday, July 20, and the Maine State Triathlon Classic on Sunday, July 28. Come to, or call the chamber office for details. The T-shirt design for the Mollycokett Day Classic was designed by Arla Patch and is incredibly beautiful. The first 150 athletes to sign up for the Race/Walk will be issued one of these shirts. Sign up today!

We are selling 15 duck chances for the third annual Great Duck Race at the covered bridge on Saturday, July 20, at 4:30 p.m. (Mollycokett Day). Grand prizes are a canoe donated by L.L. Bean, a season pass to Sunday Lake, a $1000 cash prize and a season pass to Ski Mt. Abram. Up to 20 other prizes have been donated by area merchants. Tickets are available at Preb's, Peabody's, the chamber office, the Bethel Inn, Sunday River and from chamber directors.

SUMMER SAFE HANGOUTS

Safe Hangouts started its summer program of events this week as youngsters traveled to Seacoast Park in Windham for a taste of mini golf, go-carts and bumper-boat riding. Everyone enjoyed the refreshing fountain there and ice cream at Tut's before arriving home.

Two of the participants were "flying high" naturally on the "Sky Coasters" after being hoisted 100 feet in the air. Pulling the rip cord themselves, the eighth- and ninth-graders sailed over the golf course and coasted to a smooth landing under the 107-foot tower. What an experience for the whole group!

Coordinators for the white water rafting, canoeing and beach trips are:

--White water rafting: Aug. 1, S. Howe and Sally Hannon; Aug. 8, Gail Wight.

--Canoeing: July 17, Jeff and Patti Parsons.

--Beach trips: Robin Gundersen.

Coordinators for mountain biking and the mall trip are still needed. Contact the Western Regional Council on Addictions if you are interested in coordinating either of these trips.

FAT TIRE CHALLENGE

For the sixth year, the Chisholm Ski Club will host the Fat Tire Challenge Mountain Bike Race at Black Mountain of Maine in Rumford. This year's event will be on July 7. As in the past, the Fat Tire Challenge will be part of the Maine Point Series, from which Maine State Mountain Bike Champions will be named in several classes.

Classes include Junior Beginner through Expert. Wallace's Wheels Bike Shop has again signed on as a major sponsor, providing on-site technical support and the prize table for all but the expert class. A cash purse of $800 will be held for the winners of the expert class. Pre-registration begins at 7:30 and is $28. Spectral first-timers and 12-and-under classes are $6. Experts will race at 9 a.m. with the other classes to follow. For more information, contact Roger Arsenault at 364-4165 or 364-2966 nights.

SMITH REUNION

Descendants of Simon and Mary Ann McKee Smith, late of Stow, will hold their 15th annual reunion on Aug. 4 at Fryeburg Fairgrounds in the Craft Center Building, rain or shine, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

All relatives are invited to attend. There will be a potluck lunch at noon, so bring enough food to feed your group to add to the table. Live musical entertainment throughout the afternoon will be by the Smiths. If you are musically talented, please join in.

If you have family photos, documents, etc., to share, there will be a table for displaying them. Please label them so nothing will be lost.

Notices have been sent, but due to moving, old addresses, etc., you may not get a notice.

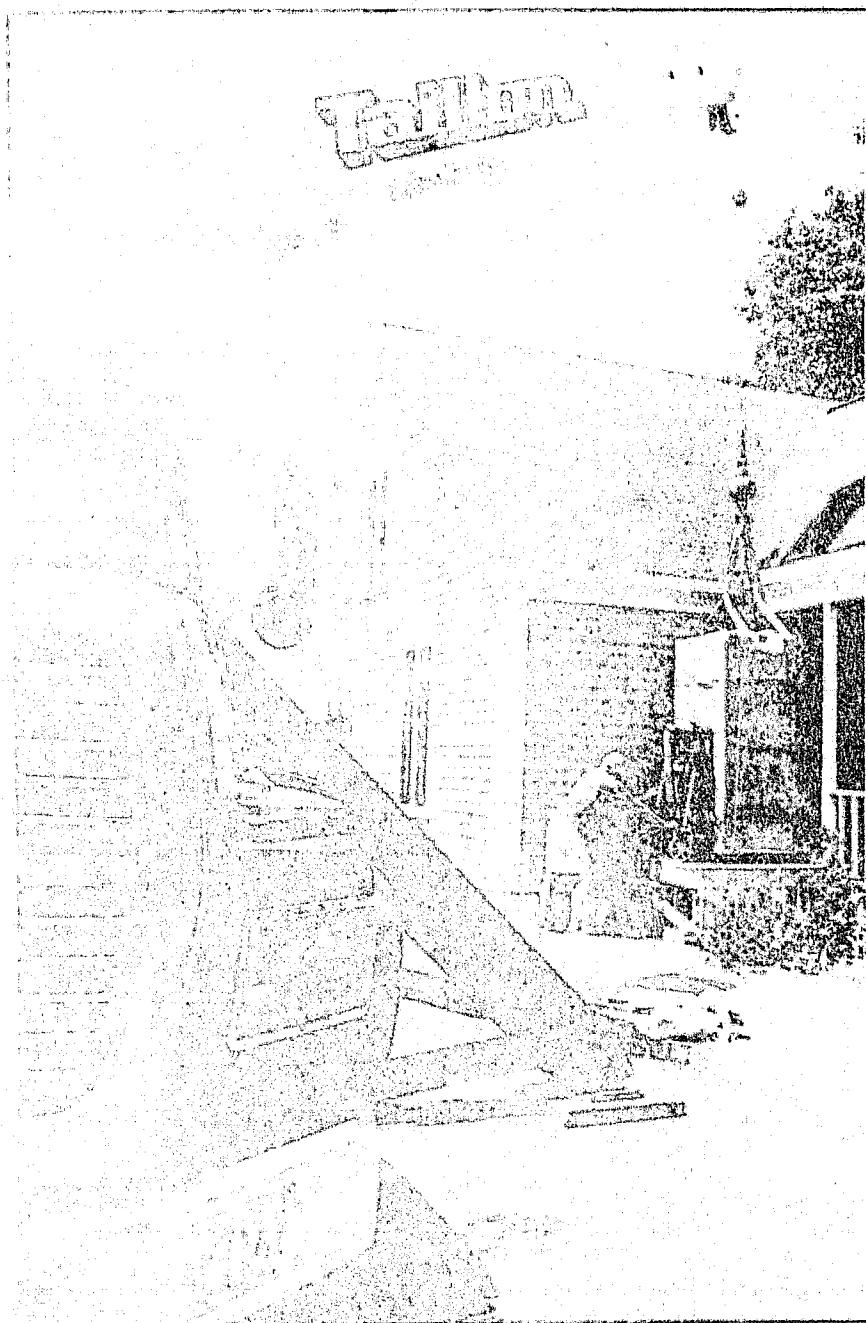

For more information, call Ann Roberts at 207-935-3160 (or write 104 Main Street, Apt. 2, Fryeburg, ME 04037), or Barbara Eastman at 603-694-3623 (HCR 68 Box 242, Center Chatham, NH 03813).

Jim Mann of Mt. Mann Jewelers in Bethel guides in a new 1.5-ton safe he had delivered to his business' new location last week. He has moved from the middle section of Main Street Place to the front of the building.

"It's a growing business. I'm planning a Grand Reopening in late July," he said. Mann has been in business for seven years. This fall he plans to open a rock and mineral museum with about 400 pieces, as well as a "crystal cave" for kids.

SHAVE AND A HAIRCUT
Debbie Brown recently opened "His Place" at her home on the Flat Road in West Bethel. Brown, a licensed barber and hair stylist, graduated in December from Mr. Richard's Hairstyle Academy in Auburn. The shop is set up with men in mind, right down to the decor. While Brown will do permanents and coloring for women two days of the week by appointment, she does barbering only the rest of the week. Here, she finishes up a haircut on Albert Cotton of Bethel.

Mr. & Mrs. Christopher Brown

Kimberly C. York and Christopher M. Brown were married on Sept. 30, 1995, at the West Parish Congregational Church, Bethel, with the Rev. Gwyneth Bohr officiating. A reception followed at the Bethel Inn.

The bride wore a full-length, white satin gown with train. She carried a bouquet of red carnations and white roses.

Jennifer York, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and Meredith Brown, sister of the groom, was a bridesmaid.

Best man was Frank Brown Jr., father of the groom. James Saunders and Harry Teter, friends of the groom, served as ushers.

The bride is the daughter of Diane and Clifford York of Bryant Pond. She graduated from Telstar High School in 1991 and from Johnson and Wales College in Providence, R.I., in 1995, with a B.S. in food marketing. She is employed at L. and N. Seafood in Arlington, Va.

Mr. Brown is the son of Gail and Frank Brown, Jr. of Alexandria, Va. He graduated from T.C. Williams High School in Alexandria in 1991 and from Johnson and Wales College with a B.S. degree in food marketing in 1995. He is employed at the Cosmos Club in Washington, D.C.

The couple are at home in Alexandria, Va.

THOUGHTS FROM THE

Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words comfort and hope for your daily life.

Graduations are behind us, summer is before us, and the 4th of July stares us in the face. All over this nation, people will spend the next week or so preparing for our country's high national holiday. However, for many of them (and the number seems to get larger each year) it will be a case of enjoying the holiday rather than observing it.

Instead, the pursuit of pleasure will drive from many people's minds any thought of the significance of the holiday. Those who carved a new republic from the remnants of an old monarchy, beginning the grandest experiment of democracy in the history of the world, will receive scant thought or consideration.

One would think, in a nation whose political freedom has been bought and maintained with the blood of her native sons and daughters, that failure to take advantage of the opportunity to recognize and express gratitude for that sacrifice would be unthinkable. Yet, each year, larger and larger numbers lose sight of the basis for their freedom.

It is the same with Jesus Christ, who purchased our spiritual freedom with his own blood, as the Apostle John wrote: "...the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin" (1 John 1:7b). It would seem unthinkable that each Sunday, when the opportunity to recognize and express gratitude for that great sacrifice is offered in churches throughout the community, that so many people would allow anything to prevent them from so doing.

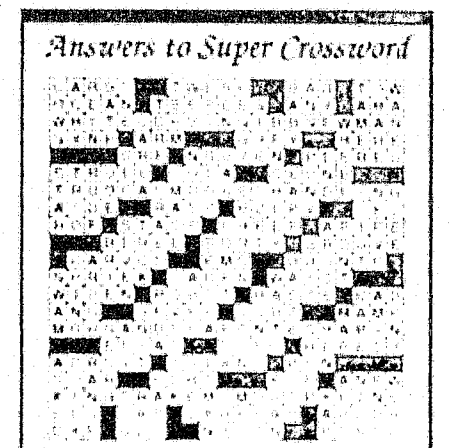

On the 4th, take a moment to join with the millions around the nation who will observe this great holiday. And, this Sunday, join the millions around the world who come together to experience the joy of worshipping God.

The Rev. John Grant
Bethel Church of the Nazarene
